

Searchers Sight Plane,
Carrying 12, Scattered
Over Mountain Ridge

United Airlines Ship Missing Since
Sunday Night on Trip From San Francisco to Burbank; Radio
Was Silenced.

SEEN FROM AIR

Wreckage Discovered by Burbank
Airport Manager; Silent on Findings After Conference.

Burbank, Calif., Dec. 28 (AP).—United Airlines announced today that searchers had sighted the wings of an airplane in the mountains north of here, presumably their missing air liner with 12 persons aboard.

The wreckage was seen from the air near Saugus, about 15 miles from here.

R. E. Dickinson, airport manager, who flew his own plane, returned to Burbank shortly after 10 a. m., P. S. T., and told United Airlines executives that he saw the wings of the ship on top of a ridge.

Dickinson reported that the rest of the transport plane was "all spread out" in the valley below.

After Dickinson made his brief report he went into a closed conference with United Airlines officials, then emerged with the statement he had nothing further to say.

He took off again with the announcement he was going to fly back to the spot for a "check."

Auto Party Searching

Burbank, Calif., Dec. 28 (AP).—A possible clue to a missing United Airlines plane and its 12 occupants—one of three large transports to vanish in the west this month—sent an automobile searching party speeding to the Simi Valley, about 60 miles northwest of here today.

The report of a rancher that a power failure occurred early Sunday evening at his home was relayed to Union Air Terminal here on the chance the missing airliner had crashed into a Simi power line.

The plane disappeared after reporting it was about to land at Burbank after a flight from San Francisco.

Paul Wright, president of the terminal, two mechanics and a radio operator left to check the Simi area by motor.

Due at 7.37 p. m. (P. S. T.) here, the plane's pilot, Edward Blom, radioed a minute ahead of time for a radio beam to direct him to the field. It was the last definite word. The plane then was believed within 15 miles of Burbank.

The Simi rancher, a man named Harrington, reported to authorities the radio and lights in his home were disabled at the instant he heard what he believed was a clap of thunder. Later in the evening, he was informed no one on adjoining farms had heard the thunder.

Determined to explore every possibility, officials ordered the searching car sent out.

Utah Plane Still Lost

In Utah, a search was continued for a Western Air Express transport, missing since December 15, with seven aboard, and today in north Idaho the bodies of two pilots were being brought down from a mountainside where their Northwest Airlines plane crashed December 18. Others aboard the U. A. L. plane were:

A. L. Markwell, Los Angeles diamond broker.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Ford, Jr. San Marino, Calif. Ford is a son of the president of the Grace Line Steamship Company.

John Korn, believed to be from El Centro, Calif.

H. S. Teague, Los Angeles.

Mrs. W. A. Newton.

M. P. Hare.

A. Novak.

Miss E. Valance.

Co-pilot Robert McLean, of Oakland, Calif.

Stewardess Yvonne Trego, of Hastings, Mich.

Before Pilot Blom asked the control tower for a radio beam he had reported he would be seven minutes later than his scheduled landing time of 7:30.

When the tower operator requested his position, Blom replied, "Wait a minute," and nothing further was heard from him. The fact that he used his day frequency was taken as evidence his radio was out of commission.

Radio Channels Cleared

Other United Airlines planes in the air during the evening were ordered to land at Bakersfield to keep the radio channels clear for contact with the lost plane. Ground stations in western Arizona and southern California made repeated efforts to reach it, broadcasting weather conditions. There were low flying clouds at the time and frequent rain squalls.

Regular transport planes flying up and down the Pacific coast were instructed to maintain a sharp lookout. All airports, emergency landing fields, weather bureaus, forestry stations and other possible points of contact were asked to keep watch.

In the possibility that the plane might have crossed the Sierra Madre mountains into the Mojave Desert, the search also was to be extended there.

One report, received by Air Line officials from the weather bureau station at Lebec, between here and Bakersfield, said a large plane had been heard circling over Quail Lake, in the Tehachapi mountains 100

Hopes for recovery of Pope Pius XI dwindled with reliable reports paralysis had extended over his entire left side. This picture of the Pontiff shows him on his throne in 1930 at the time he received the Rumanian bishops. (Associated Press Photo)

Pope Pius Passed
Painful Night, Say
Vatican Officials

Vatican City, Dec. 28 (AP).—Dr. Amanti Milani, chief physician to Pope Pius XI, made a thorough check of the Holy Father's condition today after a night of what attendants described as excruciating pain. Dr. Milani kept close watch on the Pope throughout the restless night, visiting the sick room several times after reliable reports said the partial paralysis had spread from the legs along the left side and arm.

Two doctors and a hospital attendant were constantly at the Holy Father's side. The left leg was said to be particularly painful yesterday and was swollen to a marked degree. At morning Masses, prayers for the alleviation of the pain suffered by his Holiness mingled with the usual devout pleadings that his life be continued.

Shows Good Cheer.

Even during the spasms of suffering reports said the aged Pontiff showed staunch good cheer, and between the intervals of pain drifted into sound sleep.

The fact that the 73-year-old Pope was able to take only slight nourishment added to his extreme weakness. Most Vatican prelates, observing tradition, resolutely attempted an official air of optimism but the strain was obvious.

Attendances moved with softened tread. All Vatican affairs were conducted in an atmosphere so hushed it seemed all of the little city was a sickroom.

The Holy Father heard morning Mass from the chapel adjoining his bedroom after Dr. Milani finished his examination.

Vatican prelates disclosed that the Pope himself vetoed the issuance of periodic bulletins of his condition.

They said he described his illness as painful and perhaps lengthy, but nothing to worry about.

SECOND SCARLET FEVER
DEATH IN OWEGO TODAY

Owego, N. Y., Dec. 28 (AP).—This southern New York village counted its second death from scarlet fever today but Dr. George M. Ramsey of the State Health Department said the peak of an epidemic quarantine nearly 400 homes has passed. Approximately 700 cases are housed, he said.

Bank Officials in Custody

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 28 (AP).—Governor Charles M. Smith and other officials of the Marble Savings Bank who were arrested earlier in the year in connection with the concealment of theft at the bank were re-arrested today on charges of violating the banking laws.

Markwell, one of the plane passengers, was returning to Los Angeles from a business trip and a visit with relatives in Hawthorn, Calif. A pioneer aviation enthusiast, he habitually used planes for travel and formerly piloted his private ship.

Ford and his wife, the former Charlotte Hall of Pasadena, were married six months ago. They were returning from a holiday trip with his father to San Francisco.

No More Collection
Of 'Trade Wastes' Is
Statement from City

A resolution against the city removing "trade wastes" will go into effect on January 1, according to letters sent to merchants and industrial interests, dated December 24, by David P. Conway, superintendent of the Board of Public Works.

Merchants and others having "trade waste" will have to arrange for disposal, the letter states, as some have been doing for the past year by trucking them to the incinerator where they are burned free of charge by the city.

Commenting on the letter, Mayor Conrad J. Heiseleman said, "Major Conrad J. Heiseleman said, 'The better service for the taxpayers, who depend on municipal service to remove ashes and rubbish, it will also prevent fire hazards and unsightly conditions caused by piling rubbish along the sidewalks.'"

The letter sent out by Superintendent Conway reads as follows:

Board of Public Works
Kingston, N. Y. December 24, 1936.

Inasmuch as a majority of factories and business houses during the past year have trucked their own trade wastes to our incinerator, and because of the unsightly condition and fire hazard caused by stacks of rubbish piled on the curb in the business districts, the Board of Public Works recently passed a resolution that the City of Kingston will not collect or remove trade wastes after January 1, 1937.

It will therefore be necessary after that date for each owner to arrange for the disposal of trade wastes. Combustible materials may be delivered to the Municipal Incinerator on Willbur Avenue from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. on week days and from 7 a. m. to noon on Saturdays, where they will be incinerated free of charge.

Asbes and other non-combustibles will be collected as usual.

I will greatly appreciate your cooperation in carrying out these regulations.

Very truly yours,
DAVID P. CONWAY,
Supt. Dept. of Public Works

New Dealers Study Ways, Means to Bring About
Wage and Hour Levels in All States in Place of NRA

By EDWARD J. DUFFY

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP).—Ways to bring about adoption of minimum wage and maximum hour standards in all the states, rather than attempting another N. A. A. A. are being studied within the administration.

Members of Congress arriving in greater numbers today for the session to convene next week found that subject among the foremost at the capital.

While President Roosevelt has kept his word to limit the number of new laws, he has not kept his word to limit the number of new laws.

The White House preference apparently is for each state to legislate for itself on labor standards and fair business practices, and establish federal jurisdiction when problems become interstate or national in character.

Some of such a plan would be to establish on performance by virtually all states, to prevent the same handicap on unemployment insurance, Congress imposed a uniform federal law under which the co-operating states and lack of all laws in the states.

At least 27 states had joined that program by the end of this

Tacoma Boy Kidnaped
From Home on Sunday;
Contact Spot Reported

Charles Mattson, Son of Physician, Taken From Living Room of
House by Marauder Sunday Evening.

MASK SLIPPED

One of Family Says the Man's Mask Slipped, Giving a View of His Face.

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 28 (AP).—A police official, who declined to allow the use of his name, reported today the Dr. W. W. Mattson family has been directed to make contact with the kidnaper of Charles Mattson, 10, some time this afternoon.

Hides From Searchers

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 28 (AP).—A masked, shabbily dressed man—the first major kidnaper of 1936—hid from a swiftly massed army of searchers today after abducting the 10-year-old son of a wealthy physician from his home and leaving a crude ransom note.

The note variously reported to demand $18,000 or $28,000, and apparently turned out on a child's printing press was the major clue in the seizure of brown-eyed Charles Mattson from the living room of his paternal home last night. Three other terrified youngsters were menaced by the bearded invader's pistol in the absence of the parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Mattson.

Department of Justice agents refused to divulge the full contents of the note but a reliable source said a Seattle rendezvous was named for payment of the money.

The masked intruder broke into the living room, searched the children for money, found none, then snatching the boy, cried:

"This is something better than money. He threw the note to the floor, lifted the boy into his arms and fled toward the waterfront through the same French window by which he entered."

Were Sitting on Davenport

Charles' sister, Muriel, 14, and her friend, Virginia Chaffield of Seattle, were sitting on a davenport near the window when the man first appeared. William Mattson, 16, elder brother of the kidnaped child, was seated in a chair at the other end of the room with his back to the window. He was wearing night clothes and a bathrobe.

The children said the man's mask slipped from his face while he was in the room, enabling them to see he had a dark complexion and a heavy beard. They described him as slightly built, middle-aged, poorly dressed and wearing dark trousers, a blue jacket and light tan cap.

Police concentrated their search at dawn on a mile-long, wooded ravine near the Mattson five-acre estate, on the theory the abductor, who they feared might be a narcotic addict, lacking facilities for travel and had secreted his victim near the scene of the abduction.

They tended tentatively toward this theory, they said, after an all-night vigil of city streets and highways and the hunt over waters of the sound had failed to yield a trace of the kidnaper or his captive.

Sound Ceres Searched

The search of Puget Sound coves and islands, however, was not relaxed.

The waterfront phase of the search may have had a boat beached below the Mattson home for his getaway. The $50,000 residence overlooks the waterfront some two blocks away and 300 feet below it down a steep terrace.

Officers were handicapped by lack of police boats, but several private boats were searched nearby. Within 20 miles of Tacoma, there are thousands of sheltered bays which might effectively hide a boat. Numerous large and small islands with imperfect communications made the search more difficult.

On shore, officers combed ravines and wooded sections near the Mattson home, surrounded by moderate expensive residences, the house is only a few blocks from numerous

Is $37.96 Per Thousand

If the tentative city budget as prepared by Mayor C. J. Heiseleman is approved and adopted by the common council at its meeting in January, the 1937 tax rate will be $37.96 per thousand valuation. Mayor Heiseleman will hold a public hearing on the tentative budget on Tuesday evening in the common council chambers in the city hall.

When Mayor Heiseleman assumed office on January 1, 1934, the tax rate was $41.28. The mayor has reduced the tax each year under the tax rate in effect when he assumed office as mayor. The rate for 1937 is slightly higher than this year's rate.

Two People Hurt
As Cars Collided
On Sunday Evening

Mrs. Bertha Lober of Pearl Street and Joseph Stenson of Staples Street injured when cars driven by William Kennoch and Aaron Streifer collided—Both Drivers Arrested—Hearings Adjourned.

Mrs. Bertha Lober, 52, of 122 Pearl street and Joseph Stenson, 23, of 67 Staples street were injured when cars driven by Aaron Streifer of 40 Abrava street and William Kennoch of 170 Hasbrouck avenue, collided on Broadway in front of the Brown Servicenter. Mr. Streifer arrested Mr. Kennoch on a charge of reckless driving, while Officer Murphy arrested Streifer on a charge of not having a certificate of registration with him, and the officer also arrested Kennoch on a similar charge. The car driven by Kennoch is owned by Frank P. Bailey of West New York, who is visiting in the city.

Mr. Streifer in making out his accident report at police headquarters stated he was driving west on Broadway when the car driven by Kennoch crashed into his. Mr. Kennoch in making out his report claimed that he was driving east on Broadway when Streifer pulled directly in front of his car and made a left turn. He said Streifer had driven out of the gas station.

Mrs. Lober, who was riding in the Streifer car, was injured about the head, while Stenson, riding with Kennoch, was cut about the face and head. Mrs. Lober was removed from the wrecked car by F. A. Boss of 74 Cedar street who took her into the Shamrock Grill until the arrival of the Conner ambulance who removed her to the Kingston Hospital. Stenson was taken to the Kingston Hospital in one of the police cars, and was discharged following treatment for the cuts he had sustained.

Mrs. Lober will remain at the hospital until the extent of her injuries is ascertained. An X-ray will be taken today at the hospital.

Mr. Kennoch was driving a Cadillac car while Streifer's car is a Pontiac.

Pictures of the wrecked cars were taken by Lou Merrill of the Pennington Studio, and later both cars were removed from the street. A large crowd was drawn to the scene following the crash.

Albany Hums With Inaugural Plans for
Governor Lehman

By GEORGE R. LOVEYS

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 28 (AP).—New York's capitol hummed today with last minute plans for the inaugural next Friday of Democratic Governor Lehman—fifth empire state chief executive to be returned to office three consecutive times.

The governor himself was not in the city, remaining in New York to attend the funeral of Arthur Brisbane, newspaper executive, editorial writer and reporter.

He will return tomorrow to put the finishing touches on his inaugural address, and then complete the message he must give to the 160th legislature when it convenes January 6.

Lehman, according to custom, will take the oath of office privately and informally on New Year's Eve in the presence of his family and friends at the executive mansion, and repeat the pledge during the inaugural ceremony.

Judge Irving Lehman, brother of the governor and associate judge of the court of appeals, will administer the private oath and Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn will act at the inaugural Judge Lehman has administered the oath since 1925.

Diffused simplicity will characterize the inaugural, scheduled to open promptly at 12.04 p. m. at the order of Secretary of State Flynn.

There will follow recognition of members of the State Senate, Judges of the Court of Appeals, members of the Board of Regents, Major General William N. Haskell, commanding officer of the National Guard; Rear Admiral Frank R. Lacey, commanding officer of the Naval Militia, the honorary escort, consisting of seven men each from the Old Guard of New York city, the Veterans' Corps of Artillery of New York and the Troy Citizens' Corps, United States Senators Robert F. Wagner and Royal S. Copeland, and elective state officers.

Immediately after the governor takes the oath of office, Miss Mary Lewis, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will sing "The Star Spangled Banner" and "A" Battery, 156th Field Artillery, N. Y. N. G., of Kingston, manning 2 75 mm guns in Capitol Park, will fire the governor's salute of 13 guns.

The inaugural address will start at 12.35 p. m., and continue about a half hour.

Governor Lehman followed example of immediate predecessors in declining a military parade, arranging to be escorted from the executive mansion to the capitol only a mounted escort from Troop B, 121st Cavalry.

For the first time, eleven Girl Scouts and as many Boy Scouts will greet Lehman upon his arrival at the executive chambers, an hour before the ceremony, and later follow the governor's escort to the assembly chamber to sit at designated places. A floor has been built over the assembly seats to accommodate 1,700 persons. The overflow crowd hear the ceremony through amplifiers in the capitol corridors.

Mrs. Vincent A. Gorman Announces End of Long Established Business Institution in Statement Issued Today.

ILLNESS CAUSES SALE

Circumstances and Illness Prompt Decision Urged by Family and Doctors.

Mrs. Vincent A. Gorman announced today the discontinuance of the Rose and Gorman, Inc., and that following alterations the Montgomery Ward Co. will open a modern retail organization.

The following statement was made today by Mrs. Gorman:

"It is with sincere regret that Mrs. Vincent A. Gorman announces the discontinuance of the business established by her late husband many years ago in Kingston."

"Due primarily to illness and a combination of circumstances beyond her control and prompted by the advice of physicians and her family this decision has been reluctantly made."

"The confidence and mutual understanding which have been built up and cemented around this business in Kingston for the past quarter of a century will always be treasured as a happy memory by the Gorman family."

"The present building will in the near future be completely altered. When alterations are completed the Montgomery Ward Co. will open a modern retail organization in keeping with the requirements and progressive spirit of Kingston."

"The present stock of the Rose and Gorman, Inc., will be disposed of promptly at whatever sacrifices may be necessary to vacate the building."

Originally Carl's Store

The Rose & Gorman store which is known throughout Ulster county and adjacent counties as "The Rose Store" is Kingston's biggest department store occupying the site on North Front street at the head of Wall street. For many years the business has enjoyed a wide and favorable reputation.

Originally the business was owned and operated by the late Herbert Carl who from a small beginning gradually added departments until he had established Kingston's largest department store. For many years the business was known as the "Colonial Department Store."

Later Mr. Carl sold his interest in the store to E. O. Rose, Albert E. Rose and Vincent A. Gorman and the firm became known as Rose-Gorman-Rose and under that name the business continued for a number of years until the Rose interests were sold to Vincent A. Gorman who continued the business as Rose & Gorman, the firm name under which the business today is operated.

Gorman Expands

The late V. A. Gorman was a man of wide experience in the department store business and under his management and guidance the store grew and prospered. When Herbert Carl disposed of his interest in the department store he retained for a time a millinery department in the store in that portion of the building at the head of Wall street. Later, however, he moved that business to Wall street and the entire store was taken over by the Rose and Gorman interests.

Many improvements have been made to the building. There are two main floors with a basement store and a second basement which is used for the shipping department and for the storage of a large stock of merchandise. Underneath this second basement is the sub-basement which also affords storage space.

The original building was a narrow store property extending from the head of Wall street to Fair street extension but several years ago a large addition was erected at the rear covering a large portion of the grounds and adding several acres to the floor space.

Modern Store

It had always been Mr. Gorman's deepest concern to keep the store modern and up-to-date and to offer in his large clientele the best merchandise at a fair price. Improvements were made to the building from time to time to keep the business methods strictly modern and only recently the latest type of pneumatic carrier system was installed for the transportation of cash from the various departments to the central office where the cashier was located.

The passing of "The Big Store" from Kingston shopping life will remove one of the best known and longest established businesses from the shopping center of the town.

New Store 1939

Montgomery Ward & Company, who will take over the store according to the announcement made today, has been in business here since 1928 when just before Christmas the new building was completed and opened for business. Since the opening of

Wall Falls Upon Railroad Tracks

Pekskill, N. Y., Dec. 28 (AP).—Railroad men labored today to clear the northbound line track of the New York Central Railroad buried yesterday when a 30-foot retaining wall collapsed near here.

Thousands of holiday travelers were delayed but none were hurt. The southbound main line was opened about two hours after the slide spread debris estimated by David G. Miller, Peekskill public works commissioner, at 1,000 tons over a 200-foot section of the right-of-way.

Although fast express trains still were slowed at the scene today, railroad officials said they would be able to make up lost time on other sections of the New York-Albany run.

Occurring at a "bottleneck" where four main line tracks join to become two for several miles, the collapse of the wall was attributed by railroad officials to a sudden thaw resulting from recent warm weather.

The wall broke at 10:30 a. m. when there was comparatively little traffic at that spot. A crack in the wall earlier had warned railroad officials and they summoned a labor gang who cleared the southbound track in fast time.

Several trains halted on either side of the obstruction were shunted over an adjacent local track not hit by the slide.

Landon Chews a Stogie and assails New Deal

By VOLTA TORREY
(AP Feature Service Writer)
(Ninth in a Series)

"How do you do, Mr. President?"

"How are you, Governor?"

America's Presidential rivals looked each other over in Iowa in September, then sallied on.

"Spending like this is not waste,"

Roosevelt said of his conservation program.

"Like the automobile manufacturers," Landon commented, "the administration believes in bringing out a new model every year."

"No life insurance policy is secur," Knox charged. "No savings account is safe."

"Your life and mine, though we work in the mill or in the office or in the store," the President preached,

"can still be a life in 'green pastures' and beside 'atill waters.'"

Maine Goes Republican

"We are being taken down the road," Landon warned, "that leads to a centralized government of unlimited powers." Only so many days left, Republicans emphasized, to save the American way of life.

"I have not sought, I do not seek,

I repudiate," said Roosevelt, "the support of any advocate of communism or any other alien 'ism' which

Roosevelt Gets Drenched and preaches of 'green pastures'

by fair means or foul, would change

our American democracy."

A New Deal friend, Cousens of

Michigan, and a New Deal foe, Talmadge of Georgia, lost in primaries.

Maine, every one noticed, went Republican.

Japan Has No Word For It

Around the world, meanwhile:

Hitler, at Nurnberg, said Germans would be swimming in plenty if he had the Ukraine, the Urals and Siberia.

Spanish fascists rescued their allies from Toledo's besieged Alcazar, and found two babies had been born amid the dynamiting and carnage.

Japanese marines patroled Shanghai's foreign settlement and China was told to shake hands, or else.

("There is no such word as war," said Tokyo's foreign minister, "in the Japanese diplomatic vocabulary.")

The franc was devalued. London,

Paris and Washington began to cooperate on monetary matters.

Sun Melts Machine

"A universal fellowship based on human reason" was urged by Dr.

James B. Conant as 554 noted scholars of many nations joined in colorful pageantry to honor Harvard.

Power men of the world, meeting in Washington, went to the Smithsonian Institution's backyard to see a machine harness the sun's might.

The sun was too strong that day;

the invention melted.

Mrs. Beryl Markham, 33-year-old flying mother, soloed across the Atlantic. Harry Richman, night club baritone, hopped to Europe and back despite getting out of tune with his pilot. German airmen arrived at

New York, charting a transatlantic airline.

An avalanche killed 73 in two sleeping Norway villages. A hurricane lashed the United States' eastern seaboard. Denver waddled in 17 inches of snow. But September rains helped man a farmer's fields.

"This Is Mr. Simpson..."

Eleven Black Legion members were convicted of a Detroit slaying.

Communist Candidate Browder was jailed in Terre Haute.

Joan Blondell and Dick Powell were wed. Mickey, that $500,000-a-year mouse, celebrated Birthday

en up Shakespeare.

Soon a cartoon was to appear, re-

U. S. Conference on Venereal Diseases

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP).—A national conference designed to break taboos about discussing venereal diseases and to outline methods of conquering the problem was opened today by Surgeon General Thomas Parran, chief of the U. S. Public Health Service.

It included private and public physicians, educators and laymen—the first gathering of its kind ever held.

Dr. R. A. Vonderlehr, assistant surgeon general, gave an eight-point program for attacking syphilis. His plan includes:

Full-time venereal disease control officers in every state, free distribution by state of anti-syphilitic drugs, more general use of the dark-field test to detect early phases of syphilis, more widespread use of epidemiologic investigations to determine the source of infection, more reliable disease and death reports, development of more clinics and other facilities for treatment, higher standards for state recognition of venereal disease clinics, and more liberal allotments of public money for control projects.

He reported 25 states are using social security funds to start new venereal disease control work, and estimated 1,000 free or paid clinics treat syphilis in the United States.

Eyes of the Beauty
The greater portion of the hemispherical head of the fly is occupied by a pair of large compound eyes. Each of these is composed of about 4,000 faceted individual eyes which together apparently produce a single somewhat blurred image, and not thousands of separate images. On the top of the head in the space between the eyes are three simple eyes arranged in a triangle. The width of this space on the top of the head between the eyes serves as a means of distinguishing the male from the female. In the male the eyes are separated by about one-fifth the breadth of the head, but in the female, this space is wider, being about one-third the breadth of the head.

Although the bulk of taro oil comes from the Orient, Texas is experimenting in growing the tree, product of which is the most powerful drying oil known.

By L. L. STEVENSON

Merely Scenery: A young woman friend went into a mid-town cafeteria the other day and ordered fish. Much to her satisfaction, there was a nice fresh sprig of parsley on the portion the counter girl scooped up for her. But to her indignation, the girl started to remove the decoration. The customer objected, holding that she liked parsley and felt that as it was on her piece of fish, she was entitled to it. The counter girl, however, declared that it belonged to the main dish, scraped it off and put it on another piece of fish. Which led to the observation on the part of the disappointed young woman that the parsley was neither food nor decoration but merely a decoy.

Slight Omission: As everyone knows, in broadcasting seconds count and if a program doesn't start and end "right on the nose," there are explosions and an unpleasant time for whoever is responsible. Well, according to a report, the Columbia Broadcasting company spent thousands of dollars remodeling the old Manhattan opera house into a radio playhouse. One of the big items of expense was the stage. Because a subway line runs under the building, the stage couldn't be supported with the usual foundations; that meant vibration. So it had to be suspended or "floated" from the roof. That was done and the playhouse was put into broadcasting service. And then it was discovered that someone had forgotten to install a clock.

All Set for Company: When Walter Husted, of the North American Newspaper alliance, moved to Manhattan from the open spaces of Iowa, he found that though his family consists of only his wife and himself, a seven-room apartment was entirely too small. After some search, a big house over on Staten Island was found and rented. The Husteds had plenty of room, fresh air and sea voyages. But there were drawbacks—such as time spent in commuting by means of subway, ferryboat and bus, and the expenses of keeping house in New York were certainly much higher than in Des Moines. The result was that the Husteds moved back to a seven-room Manhattan apartment. With that came an astounding discovery—during the housekeeping, they had accumulated exactly 16 barrels of dishes. So, in addition to paying rent, they are also paying storage.

Human Adding Machine: Sol DeVries, treasurer of the Winter Garden, has been selling tickets since 1888 and has been with the Shuberts for the last 30 years. He's a speed king at counting theatrical pasteboards. Most box-office men, at the count out, place the stack close to the right ear and thumb the tickets in splits of five. This is known as the "touch and sound system" and makes for high speed. DeVries, however, operates by touch alone and it makes no difference to him if his fingers pick off three or seven tickets as he zips through the stack. In an exhibition for the newsreels, DeVries counted 5,000 tickets in 10 minutes, 17 seconds.

Obering Convention: Years and years ago, when George Burns and Gracie Allen were mere troupers, playing tank towns here and there for chicken feed instead of being radio stars at a reported salary of $12,500 a week, they were in a small town in the deep South. There was but one hotel and the heat was something, as Kipling said, to make your bloomin' eyebrows crawl. At the same hotel an English lord was living and it upset him no end because George showed up at dinner in his shirt sleeves. So his lordship made complaint about lack of dignity and asked the head waiter to convey his kick to Burns. That was done, and the next night Burns showed up in a silk topper and wore that while eating—in his shirt sleeves.

Santa Cruz, Calif.—An engraved tombstone has been erected over a grave in Evergreen cemetery. The inscription reads: "He was a colored man. He left his entire fortune to Santa Cruz School District No. 1."
The "he" was Louden Nelson, ex-slave, who died here in 1907, leaving his entire property, consisting of a city lot which later sold for $200 to help the three-year-old school of that day.

New Year's For Old!
The gay, demanding, debonair, young pedler.
By courtesy called New Year, part and bold.
Comes offering in bald commercial barter.
New lamps for old! Exchange!
New lamps for old!
But when I hear his supercilious chatter,
I light my treasured lamp and shut by door;
A mystic oil keeps its dear flame high-burning.
It never wastes, is growing more and more.
And when I hear some supercilious chatter,
New loves for old! New loves for old! Exchange!
I think, dear one, of how you stand out-pouring
Your mystic oil, so fragrant, rare, and strange.
For when the years come, old or new returning,
I know your oil will keep my lamp high-burning.

Every year is a milestone.
A stepping stone or a stumbling block.
Your life is a part of many lives and these many lives are a part of yours.
Character is the estimation of your conduct in life by those who dwell about you.

Some men are born unemployed and others learned the horseshoeing trade when they were boys.

Ticket Inspector—This ticket has expired.
Dad—What does that mean?
Ticket Inspector—It is out of date.
Dad—Don't worry about that. I'm pretty old-fashioned myself.

The days that tire us most are those that are marked by lack of constructive activity.

Father—Isn't it wonderful how little chicks get out of their shells?
Junior—What gets me is how they get in.

"You can force your message to be read,
And hold it thus to pierce the reader's head.
If you can in him arouse a quick desire,
And heap on words to feed that fire;
If you can steer one idea clear through
And shoot it like a rocket from the blue
To sell your prospect in that time-bound span,
You are a darned good advertising man."

The pastor was examining one of the younger Sunday School classes, and asked the question:
Pastor—What are the sins of omission?

Little Tot (after a little silence)—Please, sir, they're sins we ought to have committed and haven't.

Why does a man have a dog?
Because the animal dotes on him and loves him.
Who is insensible to love and flattery even if it comes from a dumb but marvelously expressive animal friend like a dog?

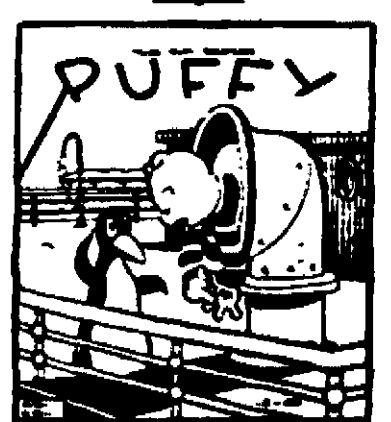

Read it or not—it requires 73 facial muscles to produce a frown—only three to produce a smile.

Wife—I wonder why it is that a nautical mile is nearly a seventh longer than a mile on land?
Hubby—Well, darling, you know things swell in the water.

Nature abhors a vacuum, which is why a head lacking of brains is usually filled with conceit.

There are times, too, when love at first sight turns out to be a matter of mistaken identity.

With a view to improving transportation facilities into mining areas throughout Canada, arrangements have been made to spend $2,195,000, mainly in the construction and improvement of roads. Of this sum $1,500,000 is being provided by the Dominion Government, and the balance is being contributed by the provinces which have signed the agreement under which the Dominion Government contributes on a two-to-one basis with the provinces.

F. D. R.'s New Bodyguard Inherits No. 1 Place In The Official Family

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington (AP)—As the President's new bodyguard, a Massachusetts state trooper has inherited a place in the official family closer to Mr. Roosevelt than any of the other members.

Thomas E. Qualters' duty will be to guard the life of the nation's chief executive 24 hours a day. But if he follows the example of his late predecessor, broad-shouldered, fun-loving Gus Gennerich, who died suddenly in Buenos Aires during the President's visit, Qualters will do much more than that for F. D. R.

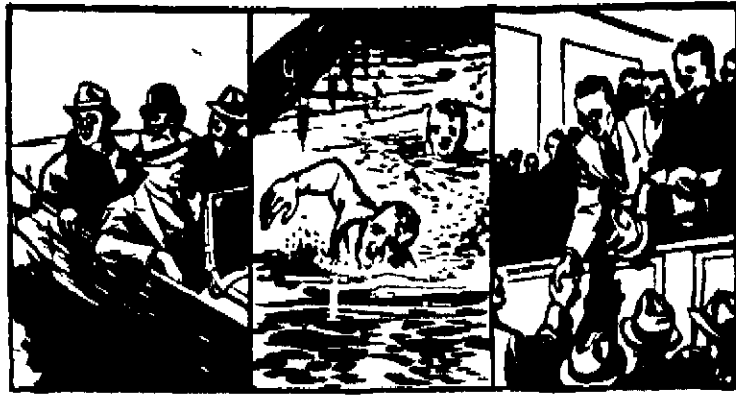

Unusual Job

There is no parallel in secret service annals for the exact relationship, personal or official, which existed between Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gus Gennerich.

Gus made it his business, as a friend as well as a government agent, to guard the President from embarrassments in all his comings and goings, both at home and abroad; to help where he could in fostering in his friend a cheerfulness of spirit, contentment of mind, and ease of body in off hours as well as those of which the public had knowledge.

Body Servant, Too

Qualters' job includes serving not only as a bodyguard, but to a certain extent, as a body servant. He must rarely leave the President's side in his waking moments

MOTORING

Eternal vigilance for the President's safety and comfort is the task of Franklin D. Roosevelt's bodyguard. When the President goes riding, the guard occupies the front seat. When the President takes a plunge, the guard often accompanies him in the White House pool. When the President appears in public, the guard is by his side.

SWIMMING

Instances as when Zangara fired at Mr. Roosevelt in Miami. He also might be called on to punch a crank occasionally.

Ordinarily he will accompany the President in his daily swim in the White House pool. (And, incidentally, he must be a good swimmer. Mr. Roosevelt likes to play water polo and delights in wrestling a companion around in the water. "even drown you," as Gennerich used to say.)

May Risk Life

He might be called on—as was Gennerich—to personally shield the President from bodily harm in such

Gen. Von Seeckt, 70, Dies in Berlin

Berlin, Dec. 28 (AP)—General Hans von Seeckt, 70, reorganizer of the German army after the World War, died unexpectedly at his home yesterday after a short illness.

General Hans von Seeckt had a brilliant career in the German army before and during the World War, but attracted wider attention by his military activities after the great struggle.

It was he who, with an iron hand, put down the postwar uprising of 1920, known as the Kapp coup d'état, or putsch, and then completed the organization of the republican army of defense.

He suddenly sprang into international prominence when during the Kapp putsch he took over command of the army as successor to General von Leutwitz. The latter, because of his equivocal behavior during the uprising, was obliged to flee the country.

General von Seeckt acquitted himself with coolness and courage in the difficulty of dealing with the mutineers who comprised a large contingent of the old imperial navy and many die-hard veterans. Without mincing matters he made it clear to the mutineers that the time had come for them to retreat. His audacity succeeded where preliminary negotiations with the revolutionists most likely would have led to another and larger revolution.

After the Kapp putsch, von Seeckt announced that he would order the troops to fire on any attempting another uprising, irrespective of their political policies. From his reputation of usually accomplishing what he undertook, the people were impressed that he was not bluffing, but meant what he said. The announcement incensed many of the conservatives and von Seeckt became the target of bitter abuses from the monarchists.

The general continued at the head of the republican army until October, 1926, when he resigned because of the wide-spread criticism directed at him for sanctioning the participation in maneuvers of Prince Wilhelm, oldest son of the former crown prince.

Born at Schleswig, April 22, 1866, General von Seeckt was the son of a soldier who became a general of infantry in the German army. The son entered the army as cornet in the Alexander Grenadiers of Berlin, one of the crack regiments of the guards. He received his commission as lieutenant in 1887.

Because of his exceptional military accomplishments he was attached to the general staff as a first lieutenant in 1894, a distinction usually reserved for those of the rank of captain. As a general staff officer he was assigned to India as military observer and in 1899 he was made captain of a regiment of infantry at Duesseldorf. Later he was given a similar command in the Grenadiers at Karlsruhe.

Reassigned to the general staff in 1904 General von Seeckt continued active with it, with the exception of a few transitory assignments, until after the World War. By his successes in that conflict he was promoted to the rank of major general. In 1917 he was put in command of the Turkish forces, with which he concluded until the end of the war.

"According to Hoyle"

The Hoyle referred to in the phrase "according to Hoyle" was Edmond Hoyle, a writer on games, who was born in England in 1672. Little is known about his life. Tradition says he was educated for the bar. At any rate, he went to London where he spent much of his time writing on games and giving lessons in card playing, especially whist. He published a book in which he systematized the laws and rules of whist, a game on which he was considered an authority as late as the middle of the Nineteenth century. His name became proverbial as an authority on games. Playing a game "according to Hoyle," came to mean playing it fair and according to the recognized rules. Hoyle died in London in 1769.

Undersecretary of State
The undersecretary of state is the principal assistant of the secretary of state in the discharge of his various functions, aiding in the formulation and execution of the foreign policies of the government, in the reception of representatives of foreign governments, etc. In matters which do not require the personal attention of the secretary of state he acts for him and in his absence becomes acting secretary of state. He is also charged with the general direction of the work of the Department of State and of the foreign service.

Yarmouth Port Founded

by 80 Cape Cod Pioneers

The old customs port of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, was founded by a group of eighty hardy pioneers from Cape Cod, Massachusetts, in 1761.

The tract of country surrounding Yarmouth was originally known as Cap Fourchu—the name bestowed by Champlain in 1604, meaning "forked" or "cloven" cape. In 1759, after the capture of Quebec by Wolfe, a number of New Englanders migrated north, and a grant of land on the western tip of Nova Scotia was made to prospective settlers from Yarmouth, Massachusetts, who named the new site after their own town. Building operations got under way in June, 1761, with the arrival of the actual colonists from Sandwich, Cape Cod.

The first families to arrive, the Landers, the Perrys and the Ellises, came in a fishing shallop, laden with their household effects. Other families soon followed. The first winter was very severe, and, to add to the discomfort of the pioneers, the ship commissioned to bring their winter supplies failed to arrive, and the little settlement subsisted on fish and gifts of venison from the friendly Micmacs.

In the spring eleven of the seventeen first families returned to New England. However, others, mostly fishermen, took their places, and the settlement prospered. In three years the first ship was launched, and so began the industry that was to make Yarmouth-built ships famous on the seven seas and Yarmouth sea captains known the world over. Her great clipper ships brought prosperity, and the little fishing village grew into a busy port.

Early Plows Fell Short

of Type That Came Later

The early plow fell far short of the dictionary definition—"An implement to cut, lift, invert, and partly pulverize the soil." Even as late as 1850 plows failed to cut and turn a clean furrow. "They rooted, but would not invert, the soil."

In the South the shovel plow was used almost universally until some years after the Civil war. Records in the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering show they were "made of wrought iron in the shape of . . . an Irish shovel, with a loop on the backside for the stock to enter. They generally are made by the blacksmith on the plantation where they are used. They are drawn through the ground with one horse or a mule . . . throwing the dirt both ways. It is pretty much like dragging a cat by the tail."

The "Old Colony" plow used in the United States about 1820, reports the 1899 Department of Agriculture Yearbook, left furrows standing up "like the ribs of a lean horse in March. A lazy plowman might sit on the beam and count every bout (circuit) of his day's work."

Route of the Pony Express

The Pony Express has been called the most spectacular episode in the carrying of the mail since Genghis Kahn established a courier system from Hungary to the China Sea to keep in touch with the outposts of his far-flung empire. While the American route was nothing like the length of its earlier counterpart, the putting it in service was nevertheless a stupendous undertaking. It extended from St. Joseph on the Missouri River to Placerville, California, a distance but little short of 2,000 miles through a country which was practically uninhabited, except for roving bands of hostile Indians, and which included the prairies of Kansas and Nebraska, the mountains of Wyoming and Utah, the desert of Nevada and, as an added obstacle, on the western end the Sierra Nevada of California along the route taken by the first settlers in the Oregon country, the Mormons and afterward many of the gold seekers in California.

John Smothers Is Light Fingered

Pleaded Guilty to Charge of Helping Himself to Property of Others and
Is Jailed—Other Police Court Cases Today.

"Judging from the facts before me you are inclined to be light fingered," said Judge Culliton this morning in police court. He was speaking to John Smothers, a negro of East Kingston, who had just pleaded guilty to two charges of petit larceny.

Mr. Smothers, who informed the court that he did not care to have any newspaper publicity, had been arrested last week on a charge of stealing a bag of rags from the place of Milton Bahl. When arraigned Thursday in police court he had entered a plea of not guilty and the hearing had been adjourned.

After leaving police court that day Smothers had dropped into the Sprague gas station at 285 Broadway, where he helped himself to $2 in cash.

Judge Culliton imposed a sentence of 90 days each in the county jail, making a total of 180 days in jail for both charges of petit larceny to which Smothers had pleaded guilty.

William Moore of 49 Cedar street was arrested Saturday evening for annoying residents on Henry street by soliciting alms from door to door. He was sentenced to 10 days in jail.

Richard Elting, 22, of Ellenville, arrested on a charge of failing to produce a certificate of registration on the demand of a police officer, had his hearing held open. He was arrested following a collision between his car and one of the city buses. The bus was not damaged but the bumper was torn off from the Elting car.

DeForest Bell, 22, of 22 Post street, arrested on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Frances O'Brien of Ravine street, charging Bell with assault in the third degree, was represented in court today by Attorney Elmor Nathan who entered a plea of not guilty for his client and the hearing was adjourned for one week.

Nick Bruck and Bob Martin Win Gun Club Laurels

The Ulster County Gun Club held its last shoot of the year Sunday at the club grounds on the Plank Road. Twenty-nine shooters took part in the various events. Over 1,500 targets were thrown and twelve fine turkeys and ten chickens were awarded as prizes.

In one event, which called for ten targets, it took nineteen extra targets to shoot off the tie which was won by Nick Bruck, who made a run of 23 straight hits.

After the poultry shoot, several members shot some skeet targets. During the skeet shooting Bob Martin broke his second 25 straight thereby winning the prize offered by one of the members at the last annual meeting for the second 25 to be made by a member.

Martin has won the only two 25's made by a member on the local skeet field.

Shooters were present Sunday from Rosendale, New Paltz, Ellenville, Saugerties, Woodstock and Kingston.

The Ulster County Club expects to send a good delegation to Woodstock on January 1, when the Woodstock Club holds a shoot.

Skeet shooting will still be practiced by the club members every Saturday, and it is hoped some team matches may be arranged with members of neighbor clubs.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Ulster County Gun Club will be held Wednesday, January 12. Time and place to be announced later.

PATTERN 5716

A Patchwork of Butterflies—their wings spread to keep you warm, make this crocheted afghan a thing of unusual beauty. What more conducive to "forty winks" than a warm coverlet, crocheted of diamond-shaped medallions 7 1/2 x 11 inches. Each butterfly is different by reason of vari-colored odds and ends of wool. You'll find this the most glorious sort of pick-up work, just simple crochet and chain stitch, with the butterfly's body in puff stitch. In pattern 5716 you will find directions for making the afghan; an illustration of it and of the stitches used; material requirements; color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred), to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Dept., 253 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The most time-honored movie before the cameras today is "The King and the Chorus Girl," even though it has nothing to do with the British situation. Very oddly—for in Hollywood this seldom occurs undeniably—it was pure coincidence that production on the story of a monarch who actually married Mervyn LeRoy, a commoner got under way while a real-life romance between a king and a commoner (who is not a chorus girl) was in the headlines.

Mervyn LeRoy, the producer and director, is frantically anxious that the British public understand this. He will not let the real royal romance be discussed on his set, and he is seeking in every possible way to prevent a tie-up between real and reel in exploitation. He is afraid the British would be offended, and the British market is certainly nothing to offend. Of course, if unsensitive reporters choose to note the coincidence—well!

Had Story 'Long Before'
"But I had this story," he protests, "a year ago, long before—er, er—well, long before. It was announced for production many months ago. Tell you how it happened."

He was playing tennis with Norman Krasna, the writer, and after the game he was telling him about Bernard Gravel, the French star. "I signed up, and asking him if he had a story that would fit him. Something light, gay, funny—that was what I wanted. Krasna said he had just the thing."

"He'd written a story when he was at Paramount, but they didn't have anybody to play the part. He and Groucho Marx got together on it later, and that was the script Norman showed me. I said I'd buy it after I'd read the first two acts—I didn't have to finish it to know it was exactly what I wanted."

And then Gravel came over, the deacon worth rated by LeRoy as the "biggest star" in France, and the picture was started—and then the headlines began popping in earnest.

Hollywood producers by mutual consent overlooked the biggest story from the news bet in years. Mervyn LeRoy was already in on his title and his picture "in" to a large financial tune. "Besides," exclaims Mervyn, "our story is about an ex-king, or a useless mythical country, the name is Paris, and it's light comedy with music—in no way an attempt to cash in on headlines that haven't even dreamed when we started."

"HOLLYWOOD" TO GIVE
"MINSTREL AT CLUSTER PARK"

Minstrel Show to be presented by the "Hollywood Esquires," a new organized boys' club, assisted by "Dorothy" in the last stages of the show.

A group of talent that has been promised to be a pleasing surprise to all who attend the performance, which will be given on Monday night, December 29, at the Clusters hall in Uster Park.

The "Esquires" were fortunate in the assistance of George H. to reach the boys. After a rehearsal he was finally persuaded to lend his years of professional experience to give the "Esquires" a touch and a dash of the "Hollywood" which has been so long in the making of Mr. Hendry.

MODES of the MOMENT

It has a brown rayon satin lining and one of the new protection backs (a waist-length inner back lined with chambray) which gives added protection from the cold. The peaked hat is trimmed with mink and the dress is brown rayon crepe.

Bowl Of Fruit Punch Is Popular With Guests At Holiday Parties

FOR HOLIDAY FESTIVITIES

Fruit punch makes a refreshing drink for Yuletide parties and dances. Sprigs of green mint and red maraschino cherries add a holiday touch.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Many holiday parties this year will center around the punch bowl.

Frost-bitten guests will welcome a cup of hot spiced cider or an egg-nog or—after they have had time to warm themselves in front of the fire—a glass of fruit punch.

The wise hostess will place a punch bowl on a conveniently located table in the reception hall, the library or the dining-room. And she will see that it is surrounded by plenty of cups or glasses to supply all those who may drop in during the afternoon or evening.

Since the cups and glasses require constant changing and washing, she may detail a close friend or one of the members of the family to look after them. And she may further simplify her hospitality by allowing the guests to serve themselves.

In many cases the punch bowl may be placed alone on a small table with the accompanying foods attractively arranged on an adjacent table. Some hostesses prefer to have all foods served from a main table on which there is a bowl of punch at one end and a pot of hot beverage at the other. This is, of course, a matter of individual taste and convenience.

Although they are not really necessary a pile of small tea or cocktail napkins may also be laid on the table.

Because the punch bowl itself is ornamental no other decorations are really needed. However, holiday punch bowl on a conveniently located table in the reception hall, the library or the dining-room. And she will see that it is surrounded by plenty of cups or glasses to supply all those who may drop in during the afternoon or evening.

Holiday dances, too, call for thirst quenchers. Punch and cider with tiny doughnuts or pretzels, will prove popular. The latter may be strung on tall sticks or on one of the modernistic gadgets especially designed for that purpose.

For the "at home" and larger function, where a greater variety of foods is necessary, tea, chocolate and coffee may be added. Orange sherbet is also a welcome addition to the Yuletide refreshments.

Since the hostess must be free to enjoy her guests she should remember that convenience and ease should be the keynote of holiday parties.

Colonials Trail by Two Points, Then Lose to Whirlwinds, 20-37

The Kingston Colonials of the American Basketball League, playing an exhibition against the New York Whirlwinds, Sunday night at the New York Hippodrome before 3,500 fans showed a reversal in the form that enabled them to trim the Philadelphia Hebrews, defending champions, last week, and bowed to the quintet of ex-colleagues, 37-20.

While Kingston was losing, the Jersey Reds strengthened their American loop lead by trimming the New York Jewels, 37-33. Sunday afternoon the Reds knocked off the Jewels 37-27.

In another American League contest Sunday night, the Philadelphia SPHAS took the Brooklyn Visitation into camp, 37-29.

At the Hippodrome, the Colonials, who tangled with the Reds New Year's night at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, fell down in all departments of play, putting on one of the worst exhibitions this season. Amateur rules handicapped the club to some extent, but not to the degree that this could be blamed for their 17 point upset.

Plugging the sort of ball that accounted for their win over the SPHAS last week, the Colonials looked like real threats for a brief spell in the second 20 minute period, advancing to within two points of tying the tally. But the Kingstonians failed in their drive for points after this when the Whirlwinds tightened their own defense and broke through that of Frank Morgenweck's club seemingly at will.

In the first half Tiny Hearn was the only Colonial to score from the field. He dumped in two ducies, one a pushup and the other a sensational toss from the coffin corner. The elongated Georgian colonel was virtually robbed of another when referee Joe Burns decided to call a foul and waived the field shot to give Hearn a free chance which he missed.

Phil Rabin, scoring leader of the American League, went without a point from scrimmage in the opening half, and Carlisle Husta, his teammate, was held down too. However, they tossed in five fouls between them. In the second half, Husta made two ducies and Rabin one. Carlisle was leading scorer for the Morgenweckers with eight points. Bill Nash, former Columbia captain, played a brilliant game for the Whirlwinds and was the club's high scorer.

Going into the second half with the tally 16-9 against them, the Colonials put on the steam for the first five minutes and by virtue of Husta's two fields and foul and Rabin's free one the Kingston brigade came close to tying the score, but Nash and company soon broke the spell and romped on to victory by dumping in ducies galore.

Kingston took its licking with Kate Smith, the Songbird of the South, looking on. The radio queen's Celtics played the preliminary, edging out the Philadelphia Owls by one point, 36-35, on Carlisle Johnson's last minute field.

After trailing 26-17 at the half, the Owls staged a spirited rally to take the lead, 33 to 32 with six minutes to play. They held an edge at 35-34 when Johnson's shot clinched the victory and gave Kate Smith a big thrill.

Kingstonians at the Hippodrome for the games were N. LeVan Haver, Al Flanagan, Eddie Coughlin, Edward Remmert and Tom Bohan, the Port Ewener who accompanied the team. There were other Colonial fans scattered throughout the old playhouse, too, according to the cheers.

"Bitsy" Grant Is Seeded No. 1 Player

New Orleans, Dec. 28 (AP)—Sukar Bowl sports enthusiasts turned to tennis matches today for a tournament in which Bryan "Bitsy" Grant of Atlanta, third ranking American netman, was seeded number one.

Frank Parker of Lawrenceville, N. J., was seeded behind Grant and others entered including Dr. John McDiarmid of Princeton, defending Champion Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., Ernie Sutter, New Orleans, and Walter Senior, San Francisco, California champion.

Four thousand fans turned out in a drizzling rain yesterday for the track meet, first of the sports events which will be climaxed with a football game between Louisiana State and Santa Clara on New Year's Day.

Southern records fell in the mile and two miles. Archie San Romani, Kansas State Teachers, nosed out the veteran Glenn Cunningham in a 4:14 mile, two seconds under the mark set here by Cunningham last year. Don Lash, Indiana, was third.

Wayne Rifeout of Texas Teachers set the two mile mark by running the distance in 9:03.5. Lash, who established the former record of 9:15.5 last year, was second.

Marty Glickman of Syracuse took the 100 yard dash in 9.9 seconds and Helen Stephens, Olympic sprinter, overcame handicaps to lead her field in the Century in 11.3 seconds.

The 850 yard run was won by Charlie Beetham of Ohio State in 1:56. Florid Lochner of Oklahoma captured the two-mile steeplechase. Tonight, boxing teams of St. Louis and New Orleans will meet. The Arkansas-Tennessee basketball game is scheduled Wednesday night.

Tennis Resumes at New York Armory

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—Fifty five youthful tennis players who survived the opening matches in the National Junior and Boys' Indoor Championships Saturday, plus 41 more who weren't called on in the first round, resumed their battles at the Seventh Regiment Armory today.

The fields were reduced to 64 juniors and 32 boys Saturday with only one seeded player falling. He was George MacCall, 12th and last on the junior list, who dropped a three-set match to Philip W. Moore of Great Neck, L. I.

The top-seeded stars, Don McNeill of Oklahoma City and Kenyon College, Gambler, O., among the juniors and 16-year-old Arthur H. Ink, Jr., of San Diego, Calif., in the boys event, went into the second round with straight set-victories.

Advancing with the juniors were the seeded Charles T. Mattmann of Forest Hills, L. I., who won convincingly although still limping from a leg injury suffered last fall; Marvin Kantrowitz, New York; Albert Ritz, Washington; Henry H. Daniels, Jr., New York; Robert A. Love, New York; and Malcolm Weinstein, Germantown, Pa. Weinstein was the only seeded junior who had to play a second set.

Convincing victories also were recorded by Alfred I. Jaffe, of Brooklyn and the University of Chicago. McNeill's opponent today; Peter Lauck of Montclair, N. J., and Princeton, who plays low; and Arthur C. Neilsen, Jr., of Winnetka, Ill.

Final Stages in Rose Bowl Drills

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 28 (AP)—Pittsburgh and Washington began the final stages of practice today for the twenty-second Pasadena Rose Bowl football game New Year's Day.

The Washington Huskies, led by Coach Jimmy Phelan, trotted out on Brookside field within the shadows of the huge Rose Bowl for their first practice on local soil after a week of practice at Santa Barbara.

Pitt remained at its Arrowhead Springs hideout at San Bernardino. Coach Jack Sutherland, continuing to juggle around for a starting lineup, said he would bring his squad here Thursday morning and take a light workout in the bowl.

"The boys are in good shape and fine spirits, and are keenly interested in the Rose Bowl game," said the tactician scout mentor.

Phelan was still a trifle mournful over the loss of Al Cruver, his second best fullback.

"We have only eight backfield men, two for each position, and if injuries go beyond the second combination we'll be sunk," he said.

Schmeling Named No. 1 Fighting Man

The Ring Magazine Picked German on Strength of His Knockout Win Over Louis—Lou Ambers Recognized as 135 Pound King.

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—For making just one fist appearance before the cash customers, Max Schmeling is nominated by "The Ring" magazine as the world's number one fighting man for 1936.

Der Moxie knocked out Joe Louis in his lone competitive start, to win the top spot the Detroit Bomber held for 1935. Louis was placed second.

Heavyweight Champion Jimmy Braddock was not called on to throw punches in competition and as a result was dropped to number three on the list.

Aside from Schmeling, the only other non-champion to top a division in "The Ring's" rankings was Benny Lynch of Scotland, who headed the flyweight groupings.

Light-heavyweight King John Henry Lewis of Phoenix, Ariz., was listed alone in group one in his weight class, as were the middleweight titlist, Freddy Steele of Tacoma, Wash., and Welterweight Champion Barney Ross of Chicago.

In the lighter divisions, however, the top punch-throwers apparently were regarded as more evenly bunched.

Lou Ambers, the Herkimer (N. Y.) Hurricane who dethroned Tony Canzoneri as lightweight champion a few months ago, was placed at the top of the 135-pounders, but grouped with him were five others.

The magazine agreed with the N. B. A. in rating Percy Sarason in front among the featherweights, but three others went into group one with him. Mike Belboise of New York, recognized as champion by the New York commission, was third, behind Henry Armstrong, the Los Angeles brawler who holds title recognition in California, and Freddy Miller of Cincinnati was fourth.

Champion Sam Ertmer braced the bantams, with Harry Jeffra of Baltimore also in group one. Jeffra recently beat the titleholder in a non-title bout.

Among the flyweights, American born battlers were completely shut out in group one, in order, were Peter Kane of England, Jim Warlock, Ireland, Ernst Weiss, Austria and Pat Palmer, England.

Progress of the Piano

The piano has come down to us, by way of the original harpsichord and clavichord, from the very ancient Oriental stringed instrument called the Gulamir—the word means "sweet tune." The "sweet tune" was little more than a sound-box of wood with strings stretched across it. Music was produced by striking the strings with a padded hammer. The full name of the piano, incidentally, is "pianoforte," which means "soft and loud."

Pass Rule May Be Only Major Change In Football Code

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—Unless their discussion of the controversial pass-interference rule leads to changes, the nation's football coaches, opening their annual convention today, don't expect any major alterations in the gridiron game for next season.

Bill Cowell, permanent secretary-treasurer of the American Football Coaches Association, said there may be a "few" new regulations, but he didn't foresee any important changes unless the pass-interference controversy came to a head.

"However," he added, "we ourselves don't know just what our rules committee will recommend to the national rules committee in February, so there's no way of telling what, if any, changes will be made."

The National Collegiate Athletic Association meeting coincidentally with the coaches—and three other organizations governing college sports, opened last night with a closed council meeting.

Subsidization of athletics, a perennial bugaboo in a return engagement, will get its chance on the convention floor tomorrow. College presidents are to give their viewpoints on the topic, "Are Our Intercollegiate Athletics to Remain Amateur?"

A comparatively new organization, the association of college track coaches of America, plans expansion throughout the country.

The football coaches will give over an entire session to the pass-interference penalty. On Tuesday, coaches, officials and sports writers will be asked for their viewpoints in an open meeting. With the material thus gathered, the association's rules committee will decide whether to suggest a change to the national group.

As is the custom, Harry Kipke, Michigan Coach, will be elevated from the association's first vice presidency to the presidency, now held by Tuse McLaughry of Brown. For this reason, the coaches generally don't believe Kipke will be ousted at Michigan, as has been rumored.

Two other organizations, in addition to the football and track coaches and the N. C. A. A., round out the week's meetings. Both the College Physical Education Association and the Sportsmanship Brotherhood, also allied with college sports, open discussions today.

High School Five And Alumni Team Clash on Tuesday

Kingston High School's basketball brigade inaugurates its local schedule by clashing with the Alumni in the traditional annual fracas at the Auditorium Tuesday night. The Maroon and White engages the old grads in the feature event slated for 8:30, preceded by a preliminary Joust at 7:15 involving the Jayvees and the Shooting Stars.

Eddie Bock, peerless leader of the championship '35 unit, will command a star-studded roster of K. H. S. cage luminaries who have flashed across the court in historic fashion in former years. Bock and Chipe Rhymmer, clever court cavalier, will team up at the forward berths with Cowboy Every at the center circle.

Andy Dykes and Tony Debrosky or George "Newt" Belchert will form the backcourt array. A host of other past greats will be on hand to assert their superiority over the current hoopers. Sam and "Hobby" Maroon, Columbia University cagers, led DeWey's mighty mite of a few years back. Harold "Beans" Baltz and numerous others will test the mettle of the voracity duce hunters.

In customary Alumni style, a flock of former courtiers will pit their greater experience and individual brilliance against the team-play and unity of the Kheimen.

Coach Kias has not divulged a starting lineup for the approaching contest with the past masters but indications point to an opening ensemble composed of Charlie Bock and Paul Argulewicz at the upcourt posts with Tommy Matine, who turned in a brilliant exhibition at Saucier's, jumping center. Capt. Eddie Bahl and either George Riffenbary or Phil Fertil will control the back zone areas.

Early New England Life

In the home life of the first settlers in New England, the men and women who came here in the Mayflower and subsequent ships, there was one focal point about which all the daily life and activities centered. That was the big open fireplace in the living room, which was literally that and, in many cases during the years immediately following 1620, the only room in the house. This fireplace, writes Arthur H. Hayward in "American Collector," was the sole source of warmth and a matter of vital importance during the long and bitterly cold months of those New England winters. In or about it all the food necessary to sustain life and health was prepared. Often it was the sole source of light. Of necessity construction of this part of the house fell to the most skillful workers.

Albany, Dec. 28 (Special)—The largest take of deer in New York state since the special deer license law became effective in 1926, and also the largest total since 1924, was reported by hunters for the 1936 season, according to figures released today by the State Conservation Department.

In Ulster county alone, 61 more deer were taken this fall than in 1935, making an increase from 133 to 194. Figures for the entire state show that 8,756 deer were taken this year, as compared with 7,162 a year ago. In 1924 the total was 8,925. In 1923 it was 9,065 and in 1919, 8,470 bucks and 3,444 does—ent down. Since 1920 only the male of the species have been legal quarry.
